The theory of separate nationalities is just now the great question all over the world.

Aggressions upon it and defenses of it form

the gist of every struggle. The revolutionary spirit of 1848 seems to have pervaded all peoples, wherever situated. No nation has escaped it. Even in Japan, the Tycoon is at war with the Daimios or Governors of the States of the Empire to enforce his authority. The Mexican question may be said to be an effort to preserve the nationality of Mexico, though the parallel is less striking here than in other cases. Poland is struggling for a distinct nationality, just as Russia is opposing the secession, and endeavoring to preserve the integrity of the empire. Garibaldi locks with eyes to Venice and Rome, with the hope of uniting in one kingdom the whole people

of Italy, and Denmark is mustering her armies

to prevent the secession of Schleswig and Holstein. In most of these cases the people of the insurgent territory being of the same race, are on one side, and wish to establish a nation consisting of them alone; and the government on the other aiming to preserve the entire boundaries of the kingdom or empire.

In our case, however, there is a great peculiarity. The people are of the same race—the Anglo-Norman—from the lake to the gulf, yet part of them, instead of aiming, as in the case of Italy and the seceding States of Schleswig and Holstein, to unite with people speaking the same tongue, are endeavoring to separate from them. So, also, the Government differs from the course in other instances,

since it is endeavoring to enforce its authority, not over a foreign people, but over citizens whose origin is common with those in other parts of the country.

As an instance of the influence of this spirit favoring separate nationalities, it may be noticed that the seceded States, both abroad and at home, are radically different in important particulars from those in the Northern States. Whatever difference

there may be from climate and institutions, it may be suggested that it is scarcely as distinct as that in different shires in England, and by no means to compare with the marked differences in manners,

300 graduates has been detected. It is well executed and likely to deceive good judges of money. Business men should be on the look-out.

WASHINGTON, February 1.

It is ordered that a draft for 500,000 men, to serve for three years or during the war, be made on the 10th day of March next, for the military service of the United States, and deducting therefrom as many as may be enlisted or drafted into the service prior to the first day of March, and not heretofore credited.

[Signed] ABRAHAM LINCOLN, HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT WESTERN VA.,

This morning a reconnoitering force that had been sent out from Colonel Campbell's command returned after having gone to Romney. There they divided into three columns, one going out to the Winchester road thirty miles, the second to the Martinsburg road to within twenty miles of Hardsville, and the third on the old Maryland road. None of the columns met with serious opposition on the advance. Information which they brought proves to be of the highest importance, and which of mysterious movements, proceedings, and preparations within the rebel lines. We took Capt. D. T. Teller, of Company A, and seven Georgia prisoners. The rebel officer says some five or six Georgia regiments have been divided into small squads and stationed at different points in the valleys and mountains of North Carolina, and reports that his company encountered a portion of Colonel Mulligan's troops, a fight, was whipped, and had to skedaddle. This rebel officer also reports that the enemy is actively pressing all men into service between the ages of sixteen and fifty-five. From his story, it seems that some of the Georgia regiments and a few of the Virginia regiments are being looked upon and watched with suspicion. The latest news from Kanawha valley reports all quiet and safe.

An order has been issued, directing that new hospital arrangements shall be made for the field, and all sick now in the army be sent to the rear.

Everything is quiet to-day in the lines and in all parts of the army.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.

A New Orleans letter says that cotton at New Orleans on the 22d was firm, but not with advance.

There are no signs of a forward movement of our army, and changes may occur that will alter the aspect of affairs before the advance begins.

Capt. Mann, commanding a Federal gunboat, was captured at Francisville by rebel cavalry scouts. He was recognized as an engineer on the rebel gunboat McRae, and was sentenced to be shot. Repeated demands for his release were made by the Confederates, but would not comply with them. The village was destroyed by the fire.

The news from the rebel line reports the capture of a scouting party under Capt. Earl.

The same correspondent says that an attack is expected on Fort Hudson and Baton Rouge.

Reinforcements have been sent there.

Advices from Havana report Juarez at Monterey.

The news from St. Domingo reports no fighting there.

FORTRESS MONROE, January 30.

The Richmond Enquirer of the 29th contains the following:

Charleston, Jan. 28.—Five shells were fired at the city last night. Five shells were also fired from Sumter, all of which struck.

The enemy are still at work on the battery at Cummings's Point, and hauling ammunition to the batteries. The shells are now being fired at the city, and three monitors anchored inside between Cummings's Point battery and Sumter.

There has been considerable activity among the fleet. On the 24th one shot per hour was fired at the city and seven at Sumter. One hundred and thirty shells were fired into the city on the 25th.

A Herald's dispatch, of the 26th, from West Virginia contains the following:

The commander-in-chief, General Sherman, who comprised the garrison at Petersburg, are now all safe. Late last night he evacuated his position in consequence of receiving information that the enemy in large force would attack him this morning. The enemy did not attack Petersburg, but they did make a reconnaissance to Ringgold and Dalton. The main force of the enemy had undoubtedly left—then, Paoli thought toward Longstreet—with the purpose of invading Kentucky.

Since arriving here I have obtained information which satisfies me that Hurd has been reinforced. An attack was undoubtedly made on Mobile within five days past. Persons here have solicited permission to go through the lines to attend to their relations wounded at Mobile. Positive information may be soon obtained as to an attack on that place and its probable fall.

NEW YORK, January 31.

The Herald's New Orleans dispatch of January 27 says: Previous to Admiral Farragut's arrival in this city, it was reported that the rebel harbor had been captured, and a force sent by the authorities to quell the disturbance, and the monitors opened upon with the guns of the fort, driving them back with great slaughter. This rumor probably arose from the fact that there is considerable dissatisfaction among the troops commanding Fort Mifflin and Gaines, and that many of the soldiers had deserted and joined our fleet off the entrance to the harbor.

These deserters also reported a regiment of cavalry, six hundred strong, stationed at a point in the rear of Mobile, who absolutely refused to serve any longer. We also learn that many of the citizens of Florida are enlisting in the Union army, and two regiments are already formed of white recruits from the Lake Pontchartrain for purposes not yet made public.

All remains quiet on the Mississippi.

A cartel for the exchange of all the prisoners captured by the command of Gen. Dick Taylor has been agreed upon, and another for the exchange of those in Texas is under favorable consideration.

On Tuesday night the track on the Opelousas and New Orleans Railroad was torn up by the rebels near Bayou Bonif. A train which came down the road a short time after was thrown off the track. No one was injured. Scouts were dispatched to search for the parties, and succeeded in capturing three men—one a citizen and two others wearing the dress of rebel soldiers. The former confessed that he assisted nine others in tearing up the track. This man also stated that a large force of the enemy had come down the bayous, and that four regiments were concealed in the woods. Their intention was to capture the train, were known to be, and to move on our main camp at Bayou Bonif. The night following three of our men, while returning to their camp, were taken prisoners, and have not been heard from since.

SOME SURPRISE IS manifested here at the course of the British Journals in denouncing the country shown by the United States to the French Government in regard to the exportation of tobacco. The concession was at the request of the French Government, supported by the express request of the British Government.

Hon. Wm. Whiting, Solicitor of the War Department, has decided that aliens, subjects of a foreign government, having voluntarily enlisted in the United States service as substitutes for drafted men, are not entitled to be discharged from such service by reason of allegiance, but may, under the law of nations, be held to perform their engagements without giving the government to which their allegiance is due just cause for complaint.

Secretary Stanton, before the House Investigating Committee yesterday, said, among other things, that Senator Hale asked nothing of him in relation to the release of Hurd from the Old Capitol, which a counselor-at-law might not, with perfect propriety, have asked of a judge, and that he yielded nothing to the application of Mr. Hale that he would not have yielded to any respectable counselor.

From information recently received by the Navy Department, it appears that very few of the obstructions at Charleston have been washed away. About 300 feet of the obstructions floated down at one time, and all that was drifted away was a raft built by the rebels for the purpose of crippling our vessels.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.

It will be recollected that in October a call for 300,000 men was made. This number has been about half filled by volunteering and enlistments. The call now made for 500,000 is interpreted by gentlemen acquainted with military affairs to include the above 300,000, being in effect an additional call for 200,000.

The order of the President makes a credit of a deduction of 50,000 may be enlisted or drafted prior to March 1st, at which time the 500,000 premium expires. When these arrangements are completed our army will number about 1,500,000 men.

WASHINGTON, January 30.

The House Committee of Public Lands has under consideration the subject of railroad grants to Alabama, Florida, Iowa, Indiana, Minnesota, Mississippi, and Wisconsin, under the law of 1854 providing that, in case the roads enumerated shall not be completed in ten years, the lands shall revert to the United States.

The committee have instructions to inquire whether it would be just and expedient to extend the time of grants in several of these States now being in rebellion.

CALIFORNIA, Jan. 31.

The steamer Patton was burned at Walker's Bend last Saturday. No lives were lost.

The guerrillas again became troublesome at various points along the river. Quantrell's band is reported in the vicinity of Pellico, Lancaster, and other fruit trees, large quantities of corn, wheat, and other crops, and other deprivations. No boats have been fired into lately.

The river continues to rise, and is probably open to navigation. Several boats cleared for St. Louis yesterday.
